It's kind of like prestige, you can use plat to buy relics (and game modifiers) and optional use buys smythical smiths instead of getting gold capsules, I bought Batman for 30 plat, I got most of everything else from chest n stuff. Last smith is all I need but I see you need 365 days to get it so I just will be playing with level 1 fuel supply so it will go faster -P · 12 Jul 22:35 Comment found in Tap Smiths: Tap Smith's Secret Tap Smiths is an innovative new clicker game where you play as a blacksmith who crafts weapons, armor, and other merchandise for store owner for sale. Shopkeeper is demanding and your time during the tour is limited to your fuel, so you have to craft quickly, and you can make many different items and earn coins, iron, gemstones and other good things like drawings of new items. As you smith you will find new drawings, and if you have at least one update of the smelter, you will be able to unlock them using the iron that you collect from each round. Uncommon and rare items can earn you a lot of coins, but the usual ones are displayed in any and all furnace temperatures. Updating your common items is usually the most effective way to earn more gold as they appear all the time. HOT: Garena Free Fire - January 2021 Make sure to squeeze a few coins out of it by tapping it before you go to the next craft session. You can usually tap on the store about five times to earn additional coins. HOT: RAID: Shadow Legends – January 2021 Promotional codes The most effective way to upgrade is to update all your various blacksmith-related items (hammer, anvil, below, etc.) around the same time, to the same level, before moving to the next level of upgrade. This allows you to spend as little money while getting the biggest impact possible. One possible exception is the hammer because you add so much power to your hits by updating it. The more power that you add to each of your hits, the less hits that it takes to make you craft an item. The next best update is fuel, because the more fuel you have, the longer each round can take place. NEW: January 2021 To use themWhen the round ends, tap the video button to watch the video to continue the round. You get either gold or iron as a bonus - more than you would get from the rounds themselves. Do not buy the pearl again, because although it gives you chests as a bonus, you pay the same thing that you, if you just bought breasts in the main store, and in the main store you can choose breasts. In this game, you will have to race the clock to craft swords, armor, and other wacky items as you work to upgrade your modest little blacksmith shop. Specifically, the developer calls the game tapper RPG, and you can collect dozens of characters (over 40), including Agent Smith, Bat Smith, and The Dark Lord of the Smith, as well as some rare characters who have their own special abilities. There are also more than 720 items that you can create and refine. This game is about challenging both your reflexes and memory, as the description adds, and mastering more and more new drawings. You want to check out this game if you are a mechanic in fast paced games, clickers, games with collection, and even traditional RPG But even if usually there is not much to play in clicker games, there are many things you have to understand to understand in this title, what we hope to help you get to the bottom of this list of Tap Smiths tips and tricks. 1. Bare Essentials of The Game – Blueprints Home Mechanic game is a project mechanic, and you will face more of these plans as you continue to work in a blacksmith shop. If there is at least one update in your smelter that will allow you to unlock those drawings using irons - you will collect the iron from each round you play. It's a project mechanic briefly, but it's far from the only important thing that makes the Tap Smiths such an interesting new name. 2. Upgrade your common items to more gold of course, you can earn a lot of gold from your uncommon and rare items, but you will always end up with common items that may appear regardless of the temperature you set in your oven. No matter how hot or not so hot, the usual elements usually appear. But it's not exactly a bad thing, because it's often more reliable to update your common items if you're trying to add to your gold. 3. Update your common items for more gold After you complete each round, you will deliver your items to the store owner, who will then evaluate what you created and pay you coins based on how good those items are. You can actually earn more coins from the store host by tapping it before pushing forward and head to the next craft session. Most often you will be able to touch the store owner about five times, which is not much, but free coins are always a good thing, no matter how many of them may be. 4. Update all smithing items at the same time, except your hammer when updating your items, you want to update your hammer, anvil and most other blacksmith elements at once or almost at the same time. You should also make sure that you upgrade them to the same levels before you move to the next upgrade level. This is the most economical way for you to update your items, and one that allows you to get maximum effect from your updates. However, there is one exception to the rule that we will discuss in the next paragraph. Your hammer is usually the only exception to the rule to update all at once, because each update significantly increases its power. With more power in your hits, you need less time to craft an item, so this means you should have your hammer upgraded to a higher level than your other blacksmith items. You can also consider fuel as an exception because with more fuel, you can buy more time in each round. 5. Watch your ad videos as soon as you've finished the round, you can watch the ad video, because Tap Smiths will give you the opportunity to view it so you can continue. Watching videos will give you gold or iron for free, and gold/iron bonuses would usually be more than the bonuses you get for completing the round. And You should avoid buying again with your gems; You will get chests like yours Use your gems again, but it will basically be the same as paying gems in an app store that has the same chest.
